How to speak with your specialist about Rezdiffra

Asking your specialist can be intimidating if you are unsure about what they will say. This tool helps ease the way to a meaningful conversation about Rezdiffra.

If I ask for Rezdiffra, I'm worried I'll hear...

I need to lose more weight first.

Emphasize your commitment to a healthy diet and exercise, but also express that you want to do more for your liver.

PATIENT PERSPECTIVE†

"I was doing my best to exercise more and eat nutritious foods, but my best only helped my MASH stay the same. It didn't improve."

PRACTICAL TIP

Bring a list of your diet and exercise efforts and share that you want to do even more, which is why you want Rezdiffra.

WHAT TO SAY

"I want to do more than diet and exercise. Could Rezdiffra help?"

I have already been given a treatment plan for my MASH.*

It's okay to ask your specialist if Rezdiffra can be added to your current medications.

"I was able to lose 35 pounds on a weight loss medication and lifestyle changes, but when my gastroenterologist checked, my scarring was still advanced, so we added Rezdiffra to help make a difference."

Review your current treatment plan, then ask if Rezdiffra could be right for you.

"I know we have a treatment plan, but I'm eager to do all I can. I'm interested in adding Rezdiffra because it works directly in the liver."

My insurance won't cover the cost of Rezdiffra.

Madrigal Patient Support® exists to help you navigate financial assistance options.

"Madrigal Patient Support was able to determine what financial assistance I might qualify for. I didn't even know patient support programs like that existed!"

Share that you heard of a team at Madrigal dedicated to finding the right financial support for you, including a copay card.

"I want to pursue Rezdiffra if it's right for me and work with Madrigal Patient Support to help with insurance coverage."

*With moderate to advanced liver scarring without cirrhosis.

"No" doesn't mean the conversation is over. If your specialist says Rezdiffra isn't right for you now, here are ways to keep moving forward:

1. Ask why Rezdiffra isn't recommended
2. Find out when you can revisit the topic
3. Add your interest to your medical record
4. Seek additional medical input to help guide your next steps

INDICATION AND IMPORTANT SAFETY INFORMATION

What is Rezdiffra?

Rezdiffra is a prescribed medicine used along with diet and exercise to treat adults with noncirrhotic metabolic dysfunction–associated steatohepatitis (MASH), formerly known as nonalcoholic steatohepatitis (NASH) with moderate to advanced liver scarring (fibrosis) but not with cirrhosis of the liver.

This indication is approved based on improvement of MASH and liver scarring (fibrosis). There are ongoing studies to confirm the clinical benefit of Rezdiffra.

Before you take Rezdiffra, tell your healthcare provider about all of your medical conditions, including if you:

- have any liver problems other than MASH.
- have gallbladder problems or have been told you have gallbladder problems, including gallstones.
- are pregnant or plan to become pregnant. It is not known if Rezdiffra will harm your unborn baby.
  - A pregnancy safety study for women who take Rezdiffra during pregnancy collects information about the health of you and your baby. You or your healthcare provider can report your pregnancy by visiting https://pregnancyregistry.madrigalpharma.com/ or calling 1-800-905-0324.

IMPORTANT SAFETY INFORMATION (CONT'D)

- are breastfeeding or plan to breastfeed. It is not known if Rezdiffra passes into your breast milk. Talk to your healthcare provider about the best way to feed your baby if you take Rezdiffra.

Tell your healthcare provider about all the medicines you take, including prescription and over-the-counter medicines, vitamins, and herbal supplements.

- Rezdiffra and other medicines may affect each other, causing side effects. Rezdiffra may affect the way other medicines work, and other medicines may affect how Rezdiffra works.
- Especially tell your healthcare provider if you take medicines that contain gemfibrozil to help lower your triglycerides because Rezdiffra is not recommended in patients taking these medicines.
- Tell your healthcare provider if you are taking medicines such as clopidogrel to thin your blood or statin medicines to help lower your cholesterol.
- Know the medicines you take. Keep a list of them to show your healthcare provider and pharmacist when you get a new medicine.

What are the possible side effects of Rezdiffra?
Rezdiffra may cause serious side effects, including:

- liver injury (hepatotoxicity). Stop taking Rezdiffra and call your healthcare provider right away if you develop the following signs or symptoms of hepatotoxicity: tiredness, nausea, vomiting, fever, rash, your skin or the white part of your eyes turns yellow (jaundice), or stomach pain/tenderness.
- gallbladder problems. Gallbladder problems such as gallstones, or inflammation of the gallbladder, or inflammation of the pancreas from gallstones can occur with MASH and may occur if you take Rezdiffra. Call your healthcare provider right away if you develop any signs or symptoms of these conditions, including nausea, vomiting, fever, or pain in your stomach area (abdomen) that is severe and will not go away. The pain may be felt going from your abdomen to your back and the pain may happen with or without vomiting.

The most common side effects of Rezdiffra include diarrhea, nausea, itching, stomach pain, vomiting, dizziness, and constipation.

These are not all the possible side effects of Rezdiffra. For more information, ask your healthcare provider or pharmacist.

Call your doctor for medical advice about side effects. You may report side effects to FDA at 1-800-FDA-1088 or www.fda.gov/medwatch. You may also report side effects to Madrigal Pharmaceuticals, Inc. at 1-800-905-0324.
